PATRIOTIC ADDRESS FOR ALL TO STAND TOGETHER

The Czar in His Address Recites the Difficulties of a Prolonged War and Calls on All to Strengthen Their Hearts and Resolves for the Struggle—He Says With the Help of God the Russian Arms must be carried to complete Victory—The War Is the National Problem to Which All Thought and Effort Must be Directed—Paris Reports the Finding of 6,000 Dead Turks in the Trenches at the Dardanelles—Allied Successes Reported at the Dardanelles—Berlin Publishes Sensational Report That England's Sixty First-Class Battleships Have Been Reduced by Submarines to Forty—More American Lives Lost.

[By Associated Press.]
Petrograd, June 30.—The Czar issues an imperial rescript reading: "A prolonged war calls ever for fresh efforts, but surmounting difficulties and parrying vicissitudes are inevitable, so let us strengthen our hearts and resolved to carry on the struggle with the help of God to a complete triumph of Russian arms. The enemy must be crushed. Without that peace is impossible."

The czar then appeals to all classes and all faiths to work together to supply the needs of the army. He adds, "This is only and henceforth the national problem to which must be directed all thoughts of united Russia."

Reports here show the Russian action in creating a board of munitions empowered to spend unlimited sums and with unrestricted power over all private industries was accomplished with astounding swiftness.

NOTED CHURCHMAN IS CRITICALLY ILL

[By Associated Press.]
Rochester, N. Y., June 30.—Archbishop James E. Quigley of Chicago, is ill here of paralysis and is not expected to survive the day.

If the great discoverer of the new world could come back on this anniversary of his great achievement, his surprise would be more startling than when he was confronted by the native Indians in 1492.

If he could visit this store, for instance, and note the systematic manner in which we provide and deliver the best of everything to our customers, he would realize indeed that he really was in a new world.

BRYAN'S OLDEST FIRM RETIRES

Dunn & Daly, Saloonists, G. Out of Business After Career of More Than Forty Years.

Today marked the closing of the career of the oldest business firm of Bryan—Dunn & Daly, saloonists—after a continuous business existence of more than forty years. The doors of the establishment closed last night at 9:30 to open no more under the present management forever.

Mr. Daly, the proprietor, decided some time ago, to go out of business with the expiration of his present license and made announcement of the fact at the time. He began at once to dispose of his saloon property and all of it has been sold.

The fixtures were sold to Harry Marwill and were moved to his place of business today. They were installed in place of the smaller furniture he has been using heretofore.

The stock was sold to Joe Opratny and the building also leased to Mr. Opratny, who will move into same on July 15th, from his present location in rear of First National Bank. Between now and that date the building will be thoroughly overhauled. A concrete floor will be put in, the walls repaired, and new decorations put in throughout. It will be made an up-to-date place in every respect.

The business of Dunn & Daly was established more than forty years ago by Mr. Thomas Dunn, one of the old and well remembered citizens of Bryan, now deceased for a number of years. Soon after its establishment he took Mr. Daly in as partner and the firm name of Dunn & Daly was never abandoned even after the death of Mr. Dunn. Mr. Dunn was never married, and made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Daly. Mrs. Daly being his niece. During his last years he was very infirm and gentler care and tenderer ministering could not have been bestowed upon him, even if he had been their own father. He sleeps in the city cemetery.

During the forty years the business of Dunn & Daly was in existence it built up a reputation for honorable, straight-forward dealing that was enviable. Orderliness was made one of the chief characteristics of the place, and no citizens of Bryan were ever held in higher esteem than Mr. Dunn during his life, and by Mr. Daly at this time.

In retiring from business Mr. Daly says he has nothing but good will for all his fellow citizens and will rejoice in their continued prosperity and the prosperity of the fair little city of Bryan. Bryan will continue to be his home and he will devote his remaining years to his private business affairs and in the pursuit of happiness for himself, and for all others to whom he can in any way contribute to their sum of earthly happiness.
